

Summer is a Great Time for WPTI Children's Program

Teri Elliott-Burke, PT, MHS, BCB-PMD

Many children, just like our adult patients, have bowel and bladder issues. Diagnoses, such as constipation, reflux, and leakage of bowel and bladder, are some of the problems children face.

WoMen's Physical Therapy Institute has developed a specialized program that addresses the specific needs of children with bowel and bladder dysfunctions. The children's program, geared to children five and older, provides them with behavior training, pelvic floor re-education and exercise. Children are taught how to regain control and become the "boss" of their bladder and/or bowel. We have many techniques that can be used at home and in the clinic to make it fun for children to work on these issues.

It is often difficult to consistently attend therapy during the school year, so summer is a great time to address these dysfunctions. Plan ahead now to seek treatment over the summer. Call WPTI today to schedule an evaluation.
